

Did you know? We like to make big things. This one's a blast from the past, and a favourite of the Big Kahuna!

Aaron Crothers, Art Director extraordinaire, commissioned BKI through Plaza Films to create a really, really big propeller used in a TVC for Cascade Brewery. We literally had 5 days with materials in hand to effect this high fidelity scale model (some said it couldn't be done). Conventionally fabricating three such blades would usually require a mould, yet necessity called for a more expedient approach. Tightly spanning a small spray room with a highly wafted, and therefore twistable vinyl fabric structure – a thick layer of expanding rigid polyurethane foam resulted in a complex blade form.

Two hours of spraying and we had literally cracked off 3 blades! Hard coat was spray applied, then an epoxy primer and voila – one big export prop – said to have been donated to an out board motor shop near Devonport, TAS.
